

I am writing to say how important FM translators are to millions of listeners to stations like K-Love.

This broadcasting network is essential to myself and my family as well as 90% of my church. I know that that is the case at most of the churches in my community and many others all across America.

We live in a time where we are inoculated with sexually explicit, violent and profane programming in just about every avenue of media. Stations like K-Love and Air 1 offer a calm safe refuge in that storm. As a mother of both teens and small children I know that I don't have to worry about what they hear while in my car. I have listened to other stations in the past and it's embarrassing what is said on morning programs when people are taking their children to school. These stations are not only safe for my family but encouragement to me as I go from work to family responsibilities.

I have also witnessed the positive changes my teenager has gone through in the last year as she listened to music from K-Love in my car instead of the stuff other teenagers surround themselves with. I plead with you to make a decision to keep the FM translators and programs like K-Love on the air.

Because of the national range I can travel anywhere and know that I can find this safe and family geared programming that is such an essential part of our daily lives.

Respectfully yours, Celeste McGarvey
